New Digs for the Deegs

Boyer
Building Corporation

Community, great schools and living around “the lakes” were priorities for the Deegs. Deephaven has long been known for its unique community and our homeowners already had friends in the area. As they worked together on plans, Boyer Building soon discovered their love of everything cottage-like and this included a love for keeping things open, light in color, and warm in style.

Boyer incorporated beams for their ceilings. River rock stonework from the exterior pillars was brought into their beautiful fireplace, as was reclaimed barn wood for the mantel. Tongue-and-groove ceilings with an unobstructed view out their new porch made this main floor live large unlike most “cottages” which was the initial wish. The upstairs, with its common area for the children, puts family at the center of this beautiful new build.

Of course, our story has a happy ending – this family couldn’t be more thrilled with their new Deephaven home!
