

A new home for the Scherschligt Family home of the month

The Scherschligt family knew what was important to them: community, great schools and living around “the lakes.” Deephaven has long been known for its unique small community, and our homeowners knew what they wanted, and being in the same community would be bonus points. Boyer Building was fortunate to be chosen for their beautiful home, accommodating their young family. Their desired design was a contemporary farmhouse with an open concept for their love of entertaining. Among many “extras,” Boyer incorporated custom Douglas fir beams to warm the beautiful white, airy space that spanned from the kitchen, dining space to the great room. The abundance of windows and light seems to flow from the main floor through the wonderful screen porch, right up to the second-floor bedrooms. All that was needed was their good friends the Deegs nearby. And you read about their happy home last month.
